Reaching Out Intentionally: The Mentoring Challenge

Are you looking for ways to inspire your staff and support new hires? Are you committed to building the best possible team but don't know where to start? If so, you'll want to join your ACLCP colleagues and Ms. Georgie Donovan, Assistant Professor and Lead Acquisitions Librarian, Belk Library, Appalachian State University, as she presents her keynote address, "Reaching Out Intentionally: The Mentoring Challenge." The ACLCP-led panel discussion that follows will explore local mentoring programs, best practices, challenges, and successes.

Ms. Donovan has extensive first-hand experience with mentoring within the professional and para-professional fields. In addition to her academic duties she works closely with the ALA Office of Diversity and is co-editor with Miguel Figueroa of the book, Staff Development Strategies that Work: Stories and Strategies from New Librarians (Neal-Schuman).

Panelists:

- Theresa Arndt, Dickinson College, Assoc. Director for Research & Instructional Services
- Karen Daniel, Shippensburg University, Archives & Special Collections Librarian
- Jessica George, Millersville University, Education Librarian
- Janelle Wertzberger, Gettysburg College, Director of Reference & Instruction

Participants will learn how to: ♦ Attract the best new library leaders and support them with effective mentoring ♦ Build networks and activities within your library to foster staff development ♦ Create program descriptions for formal mentoring initiatives
